Good NEWES from Lochac.

Wherein is describ'd the invest of Their Excellencies of Southron Gaard, Lord Oswyn Carolus and Mistresse Isabel Maria del Aguila in the presence of the Noble Crown of Lochac and sundry Peers and peoples.

Also the banns of Wedlock for two gracious ladies and Newes of their Sponsalia wherent all are invited to attend. And a report from the Banco di Don Julio.

And other Sundrie Matters as are bruited about the Kingdom, including newes of special events and offerings made available by Merchants and others of Good Repute.

AT CANTERBURY FAIRE.

This being the feast day of Sanct Hyacintha of Mariscotti who spent her family fortune making her life in a Franciscan convent one of grate comfort and utter luxuriantness such that she had nun of the privoytions of the other tertiaries, but then repented on confession and replaced her soft feather bed with a few bare boards and her fine foods and wine with bread and water and thus became patroness to those who are rightly despised for wealth and smugness.

No. i. Mondaie Ianuarie xxx ASXLVI.

The copie of a letter sent in to Scotlande, of the investiture of the moste excellent Lord Oswyn Carolus and the illustre Mistress Isabel Maria del Aguila, solemnised at Canterbury Faire by Their Maiesties of Lochac, Siridean and Margie.

I have good occasion ministered now to write, by reason of suche most noble newes as are in Southron Gaard at this present, I wil so briefly as I may advertis you of the same. Therefore you shall understande that the peers, lordes and ladies of this realme of Lochac and diverse other noble men and women most lovyngly welcomed Their Excellencies Oswyn Carolus and his lady Isabel Maria del Aguila to the estate of Baron and Baroness of Southron Gaard on the eventide of yesterday, it being being the fourth Sundaie of Ordinary Time and the feast daie of Sanct Gildas the Wise.

Their Excellencies attended upon Their Maiesties in Court, processing in good order, every one placed according to his vocacion and office, in riche apparel well embroidered and most reverently received. And there before Their Maiesties they went bare-headed with great humilitie and knelt to receive the coronets that signified their holding of the faire Barony in the name of the Crown of Lochac and brought certayn members of their court before them to serve. And there were about them others of the Baronies of Lochac to wit: Their Excellencies Hanbal al Barbari and Ute von Tangermünde of the Barony of Stormhold, Their Excellencies Rudiger Adler and Alyenora Brodier of the Barony of Ildhafn, and Their Excellencies Gilchrist Morgan and Lillian d'Ath of the Barony of Mordenvale, and many more well known throughout the Realme for divers reasons. The stile and title of Their Excellencies being thus proclaimed, a heralde of armes in ane heraldicall garmente cryed three times with an hye voyce "Hip Hip!" and alle who followed cried out in joye "Huzzah!!!". And thereafter the King and the Quene departed, with their barons and baronesses about them, and so too did the remaining peers and populace.

Thus the faire ladies and their lords went forth to enjoy fine vittles and drink, the latter being a gift from the Potable Adventurers Companie to honour the occaysion. And there was suche soundes and noise of al maner of instruments, as hath been seldome hearde; and there was much rejoycing. And thus, shortly to conclude, there was for manie houres after this moste noble investiture suche triumphing, bankating, singing, masking, and daunsing, as was never seen in Southron Gaard heretofore.

BANNS of Wedlock.

Herein is proclaimed for the first time of asking the banns between Lady Agnes de kyrri and Elena Sophia Luciano de Medici, both residing in the Barony of Southron Gaard. If any know cause or just impediment why these persons should not be joined in wedlock, ye are to declare it at the Impalmamento to be held at the Marquee on the Feast Day of Saint Marcella, being to-morrow the last day of Januarie, from the hour of eight or thereabouts. Should there be no lawful objection, the Impalmamento shall be followed immediately thereafter by a Sponsalia celebration, wherein all members of the populace are welcome to come and raise a glass and wish the happy couple well for their matrimonium three months hence.

How a Horse may reckon any number.

For that the Equestrian Artes were most ably demonstrated this day, it may prove Fruitfull for those practising such to know that your Horse may be taught to reckon any number to your profit from those who marvelle at his knowledge. By lifting up and pawing with his feete, you shall first with your rodde, by rapping him upon the shin, make him take his foote from the ground, and by adding to your rod one certaine word as Up: or such like. Now when he will take up his foote once, you shall cherrish him, & give him Bread, and when hee sets it uppon the ground, the first time you shall ever say one, then give him more bread, and after a little pause, labour him againe at every motion, giving him a bit of bread til he be so perfect, that as you lift up your rod, so he will lift up his foot, and as you move your rod downward, so he will move his foot to the ground. Then you shall make him encrease his numbers at your pleasure, as from one to two, from two to three, and so fourth, till in the end hee will not leave pawing with his foote, so long as ever you move your rod up and downe. Then you may adventure to bring him into any company or assembly, and making any Man thinke a number, and tell it you in your eare, you may bid the Horse tell you what number the man did thinke, and at the end of your speech bee sure to saye last Up: for that is as it were a Watch-worde to make him know what hee must doe, and whylest you are talking, you shall make him looke in your face, and so your eye dyrecting him unto your rodde, you may with the motions thereof, make him with his foot declare the number before thought by the by-stander. From this you may ascertainne how many many Fooles, how many Knaves, or how many Rich men are amongst a multitude of gazing persons, for such you may wager with to your Enrichment.

The BANCO di Don Julio explains the circulation of funds.

Money doeth by circulating out of the richer Purses, furnish all the Realme, being laid out upon those things whereof there is a continual Consumption for the Necessities of Life.

And thus the coinage of the Wise and Noble Padrones circulates within the limbs of the Banco di Don Julio to provide Sustenance for the aforesaid Banco's activities such that it may fund the works of the Potable Adventurers' Companie for the further learning of those Adventurers and for the Common-weal at Canterbury Faire for free provision of a range of libations for those of suitable age and sound demeanour. And that, as every Body has a quantity of Blood to circulate therein, so the Banco circulates the Padrone coin and that of any Minor Shareholders to ensure that surplus funds are set to provide merriment at and support of Faire. Thus at Canterbury Faire last, the Banco enabled the puissant Companie to freely provide great quantity and variety of potables, to be repeated this year; and also dean aprons for the Mong and greater candlepower such that readings of literature and music could continue into the night for the enjoyment of all.

And so to this end, the Banco Notarius welcomes any who would purchase a Minor Shareholding for the price of a promissory note drawn on any recognised financial institution; and also any who may propose Good Use for surplus funds so that they, too, may circulate. For as the Blood stopping in the Head puts the Body into a Consumption, Dropsy, or Apoplexy, so should it be if all the Money be only in a few Hands, for then the Realme may fall unavoidably into Convulsions, and other dangerous Distempers.
